Situation:

The power distribution unit (PDU) E1135C supplied in systems provided by Agilent's Measurement System Division (MSD) has two variant shades for its casing (pewter grey and graphite grey color). The PDU with pewter grey color (refer figure 1) is widely used in E8780B, E8786B, E2230B, E2240A and U8791A. There is a call for action for color standardization. The affected model number is only E1135-80050.

Solution/Action:

For standardization across the E1135C used in MSD systems, MSD will change the color of the PDU (E1135-80050) from pewter grey (color code: 6009-0190) to graphite grey (color code: 6009-0191) (refer to figure 2). Together with this change, the silk screen text color (words on the PDU) will be changed from black to white.

This new color change will take effect from 1 December 2011.

Frequency Asked Questions (FAQ) for E1135-80050:
1. Q: Will this color change have any technical impact of the PDU?
   A: No, this is only a mechanical form change involves the color of E1135-80050 PDU metal casing and silk screen text. All the internal wirings, including gauge and style remain unchanged.
2. Q: Is there any change/ modification/ action needed by the user with the implementation of this color change?
   A: There is no action needed from the user.
